

Edwin McClure CFO

Edwin (Ed) McClure is the financial anchor every high-growth company needs.

A 30-year veteran of the financial industry and 23-year business owner, Ed brings something rare to the CFO role: he has sat on both sides of the table. As a Certified Financial Planner® dedicated to business owners, he has spent decades helping entrepreneurs navigate strategic planning, capital allocation, and the complex investment decisions that define success.

In the ag-tech sector for over four years, Ed has been the steady hand guiding growth with operational discipline. He translates financial insight into actionable strategy, helping companies scale without breaking, invest without overextending, and build value that lasts.

Known for assembling and leading high-performing teams, Ed brings a practical, grounded mindset to financial management. He doesn't just track the numbers; he optimizes them. Under his leadership, capital strategy aligns with sustainable profitability, and every decision is measured against long-term value creation. Ed McClure doesn't just keep the books, he builds the foundation.
